

About Me

I have seen so many programs out there for people who want to make money on the internet!!

So many of them promise you will make tons of money in just a few short days if you sign up with them or they offer you all this free stuff but the free stuff always comes down to buying something or so it seemed anyway...

Don't get me wrong the free stuff can be very powerful stuff to help you build & market your website and you can find a lot of helpful tips with the free stuff but it can also get you confused and sidetracked from what you really want to accomplish. Believe me I did just that and if you want free stuff I can show you where to get all kinds of it...

I have spent so much time this last year finding out how to make money online. I started out paying someone 200 dollars for something that was supposed to make me thousands of dollars a month by doing what they tell me in this program they sent me. Well when I got the program I started reading it and found out it wasn't what they led me to believe I would be doing. There was so much information in this program and so much of it seemed to be just filler pages, things I didn't need to read to accomplish what I thought I would be doing.

I was totally lost and figured I had been taken so I kept trying to contact them and to my surprise I couldn't. Then I became mad and felt I was totally screwed!!

Well me being who I am decided to do what I could. I started reading all the information they sent me and decided to try the affiliate stuff. I decided I needed a website and started looking into how to build a website. I didn't know anything about it but I did find an easy way and started building a website.

OK now I got my website so onto the affiliate stuff, at first I just started putting banners up (didn't know a thing at the time) and now I got all this neat stuff for sale and it's all on my website so now what? Ah yes!! Marketing it, getting customers to the website boy was I in for a shock. I didn't know the first thing about getting traffic to my site....

So here I go again trying to figure out what to do. I started researching how to get traffic to my website. I read so much information and signed up for so many things my head and my email box was so full of information I was lost again, What to believe, what not to believe, what to try, what not to try!! There are so many ways to market a website where do I start?

Well I just started one thing at a time and each step took me forever to figure out as I was doing all this on my own. I didn't have any coaches or any other person telling me what to do next, which is one thing I was promised I would get yet never did when I paid $200 for the program that was supposed to make me thousands of dollars a month.

I spent hours reading and figuring out how to use these marketing techniques I kept finding.

As time went on things started to make more sense and I realized my website didn't look so great but as I kept finding new stuff and learning how to do these things I started making changes and adding the right techniques then things finally started to come together, I was finally figuring it out.

Then I decide to put all my info into this eBook, "Build & Market Your Own Website" so other people can learn what I have learned this last year without all the time consuming reading and figuring out what to do next. I also will be available to anyone who buys my product for any questions they might have as I know how frustrating it is to be promised something and not getting what was promised me. I will not promise you a fortune but I do believe you too can make money online and have a home based business from using the tools I give you in my eBook Build & Market Your Own Website.
